Viewpoint Awarded the 2018 Enterprise Technology Company of the Year by Technology Association of Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. – May 11, 2018 – Viewpoint, the leading global provider of integrated software solutions for the construction industry, today announced that the Technology Association of Oregon (TAO) awarded Viewpoint this year's Enterprise Technology Company of the Year on Thursday, May 10th at the 34th Oregon Technology Awards dinner.

Winners were selected from a broad swathe of leading technology companies showcasing the biggest impact on the region's economic growth. The Technology Company of the Year Award in the Enterprise category honors large, established companies that are leaders in both their industry and broader technology community. The award recognizes a variety of accomplishments over the past year beyond economic impact including new product introductions, community involvement and impact on industry trends.

"We are extremely honored to be recognized by the Technology Association of Oregon for this prestigious award," said Viewpoint chairman and CEO Manolis Kotzabasakis. "Our company success and growth are both a direct result of the amazing work of Viewpoint employees in Portland and around the globe – all toward the single mission of helping our clients digitize operations and transform their businesses with Viewpoint solutions."

The TAO is focused on growing Oregon and Southwest Washington's technology industry by supporting entrepreneurs, connecting peers and decision makers and helping establish the Northwest as a global hub for innovation. As a member of the TAO, Viewpoint is proud to be part of the larger technology community, supporting state and national technology initiatives, and participating in local educational efforts to share best practices and support innovation.

"Portland has emerged as an important and vibrant core for global technology growth and innovation," said Viewpoint Chief Product Officer Matt Harris. "Our fellow nominees are companies we know and respect and it's a privilege to be called out alongside them for the great work that's being done across our region."

The award is a resounding statement on an active and successful year. The company has experienced tremendous growth, both in sales and size. The Portland headquarters alone grew nearly 30 percent in 2017. Additionally, Viewpoint purchased Seattle-based construction ERP developer Dexter + Chaney in July of last year and also brought on a key development partner to the Viewpoint team last month by acquiring Monrovia, Calif.-based Keystyle Data Solutions. Both moves bring the company closer to fulfilling on the overarching vision of connecting the office, team and field for customers.
